Teed himself is not always indoors and is seen occasionally giving instructions to a class of new comers at one of the arbors. A remarkable feature of the whole institution is that all converts are what might be called very pretty. That they are loved by Tecd is proved by the manner in which he smbraces them on the lawns. Ho seems utterly oblivious to the glances of neighbors. There are twelve women altogether. None of them is over 35 years old. The majorthem is over 35 years old. The majority of them are less than $1. There are also two male angels who act as supernumeries. They do the yard work and make the purchases for the household. The female angels do the housework. No person not a believer in the divinity of Teed is permitted to pass the threshold. The inside workings of the institutions are said to be very interesting. One woman who was a candidate for one of Teed's harps could not reconcile herself to belief that free love was a secondary, seignet to the golden wairs, recently forsook

But whether or not she tells the truth, nobody will ever know except herself. The latest news from the scene of the disturbance is to the effect that Teed is to be placed on trial on a similar charge to the one in-terpreted by Pontius Pilate nearly two thousand years ago.

CASE UNDER FIRE AT NEWARK

Man and Woman Become Com in rd That They Are in the Garden of Eden-Remarkable Hallucination.

We are all mad-lunatics- every one of us, yet we are but human, and hu conditions, and what humanity is capa-ble of even in the latter half of this century can be seen from a giance at the subjoined account, reprinted from an illustrated journal of the year 1868:

The people residing in a peaceful heighborhood of Newark, N. J., have recently been excited by some very ex-traordinary and outrageous exhibitions under the name of spiritualism. It seems that for some time past a few spiritualists and eccentrics have estab-lished themselves there, and conducted lished themselves there, and conducted themselves in a most singular manner.

The headquarters were in an old engine house, which is used as a sort of Spiritual publication concern, the printing being done on the lower floor and the publishers, male and female, living upstairs. But the most remarkable manifestations were in a house on the corner of Prospect and Chestnut streets, occupied by a widow lady, who bears a respectable character.

A man named Robert McEwen, a Scotchman, and a Spiritualist of the man, and a Spiritualist of the maddest type, appears to have gained an influence over the family, and nearly all of them have become monomaniacs on the subject. One of their hallucina-tions is that when in a certain spiritual eondition they must strip themselves, and this they do without the least sense of shame, quoting as their pre-cedents the very ancient ones of Adam house, and were harangued by one of land. the inmates.

A couple of prominent physicians, old friends of the family, being asked lately by one of the relatives to call and see if something could not be done to put a stop to these disgraceful proceed-ings, were ushered into an unfurnished room, in which were the man McEwen and several members of the family. On the floor lay a mysterious object cov-ered by a blanket, upon lifting which a woman jumped up, stark naked, and, embracing Dr. Coles, frantically said: "I am glad to see you! I will save you! I am the mother of Christ!" and made use of other equally extravagant ex-

The modern idea of combination in teaching was well illustrated the other day by a small boy, who was asked what he studied in the public schools. He answered: "Oh, everything-freeand drawing, an' cookin' an' bacteriology, an' music, an' spectrum analysis, an' sewin' on buttons, an' agricultural chemistry, an' dishwashin', and every-

The train pulled in. All eyes scanned the passengers, and on the cry of "There he is," the lady boarded the train and made a bee line for her liege, whom she commenced belaboring at a lively rate. Having been taken completely by surprise, he at first offered no resistance, but smarting under the lash he attempted to strike her, but was prevented by her male friends; nor did the woman cease until the moving train warned her off. The citizens of Bainbridge are of the opinion that the Rev. W. Cupp got his just deserts.
